IN MEMORY OF THEIR DEAD.

A SPECIAL SERVICE ATTENDED BY THE ODD FELLOWS OF THE CITY.

Listened to an interesting and instructive Discourse by Rev. Charles B. Mitchell, D. D.-Rev. John R. Brown Delivers His Initial Sermon,

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock the Grand Avenue Methodist Episcopal church was crowded with the members and friends of the various lodges of Odd Fellows in the city. The services were very interesting. Dr. Mitchell preached the memorial ser-men, taking for his text, "O death, where is thy sting?" I Cor. xv:55. An outline of what Dr. Mitchell said is here given:

"We are here to-day to think of our dead. We will not forget them. Some-times the cares of life press so hard and our hours are so busily employed that we find, to our regret too often, ourselves getting on in our life's struggles with too little thought of the former sharers of our joys and sorrows. We are pained at such times to discover that we have almost forgotten our dear ones gone. Once a year, at least, it is well for us, in this public and collective capacity, to sit down and ponder the lives of the dear absent mem-bers and think on the questions which enter into our lives here and yonder.

"Death is the great divider. Death en-ters our circles and separates from us the dear ones of our love. If death be the dread cause of so many broken hearth-stones, ruined hopes and blighted lives, we may well dare to pause in our busy days to consider this the most stupendous fact with which mortals have to deal.

"I am of the opinion that death has its ling. No amount of poetry can make death less horrible than it is. It can not death less horribe than it is. It can not be paised by as a little inclient unworthy our attention. It is the sublimest event in it is the most crucial hour we shall ever know. It is the crossing of the roads. At the gast men file off up into life cternal off the control of t

"O, faithless heart, the same loved face transfigured shall meet thee there, Less sad, less wistful in immortal beauty, divinely fair.

The mortal vell washed pure with many weepings is rent away.

And the great soul that sat within its prison hath found the day.

"In the clear morning of that other country, in Paradise,

With the same faces we have loved and cherished they shall arise!
Let us be patient, we who mount with weeping some vanished face.
The Lord has taken, but to add more beauty and a diviner grace.

"What sting has death when the great God shall only use it as the crucible in which the alchemist works his wonders? Who needs fear death if he has faith in Him Who is master of life and death, and Who can wrest from the grip of the monster the stolen jewel which took shall place in the great Victor's crown? If such resurrection, exchange and restoration shall come to all who believe in Jesus Christ, well may we stand by Paul, look the king of terrors in the face and cry, o death, where is thy sting?"

INITIAL SERMON.

Rev. John R. Brown Prenches in the Olive Street Haptist Church.

Rev. John R. Brown, the new paster of the Olive Street Baptist church, preached his initial sermon to a large congregation at the church, southeast corner of Ninth and Olive yesterday morning. The members of the congregation were delighted with the coming of their eloquent young pastor. The pulpit and the choir platforms paster. The pulpit and the choir platforms the city is a fair estimate of the matter, were beautifully decorated with plants and flowers. Rev. Brown's subject was "The people took advantage of the pleasant Message of the Age." He preached from weather to leave the heat and dust of the flowers. Hev. Brown's subject was "The Message of the Age." He preached from the following text: "That which we have preacher among the Moravians, summed up his life of work and success, he did so in these words: 'I have but one passion, and that is He, only He.' To the preaching of Jesus Christ as a person and as a propitiation for sin he owed all his success as a Christian, and celebrity as a philanthropist, John, the beloved apostle, is, after a period of fifty years, reviewing his preaching for that length of time. John had been a successful preacher. He, more than any other of the disciples, had entered into the life and purpose of his Lord. He had but one message. It was of a life rather than a doctrine, of a person rather than a principle. In this text we may find the matter and the manner of true preaching. It is a preaching of Christ as living and personal. In the text may be found three elements, a peculiar intimacy with Christ, a private Judgment of Christ and a public commendation to Christ. With what was John so peculiarly intimate? It was not with a man merely; but with the manifested life of God is revealed in Jesus Christ. This Christ had attributes of which no man could boast. These John gathered together in the concrete terms, life, light and love; signifying in turn the power, the wisdom and the providence of this Christ. All men come into contact with Christ. All men come into contact with Christ. All men christ is concerned, either now as their Savior or hereafter as their judge. The multitudes, the tweive, the three and the beloved John are types of these degrees of intimacy. The danger of intimacy we may learn from the common proverbs that pass current among us; 'No man is a hero to his own valet,' Familiarity breeds contempt,' Carlyle began the study of the life of Frederick the Great with the expressed conviction that the great German was the truest and greatest man in history, only to discover, to his disgust, evidences of meaniness and perifdy which made him a hater of all mankind. Froude believed Elizabeth to be the greatest woman in history, and when he had been revealed to him, seen and heard, se

Meeting in Shelley Park. Meeting in Shelley Park.

A large and deeply interested audience listened to Evangelist Shawhan at Shelley park last evening. The best of order prevailed. Mr. Shawhan probably preached the strongest sermon thus far. His method the strongest sermon thus far. His method is unique. Formerly an attorney, he handles his themes like a typical, forceful lawyer. Mr. Shawhan is a close student, a wide reader, and one of the most interesting platform speakers in the West. He has held evangelistic meetings in nearly all of the large cities of the West, and possesses that happy faculty of instructing and moving the audience at will. Last night the earnest evangelist was at his best, and the effort was full of kindly, genial humor, pathos and dramatic action.

CRIMINATING EVIDENCE.

Stolen Property Found in the Rooms of Robert Bowman, Who Was Arrested by Detective Hayes.

Robert Bowman was arrested by De-tective Hayes last night at 11:30 o'clock while coming out of a room at Fifth street and Broadway. A search of the room occupied by the prisoner revealed a quantity of articles stolen on June 10 from the room of J. Sweeney in Dr. W. H. Jenney's block of J. Sweeney in Dr. W. H. Jenney's block at Twelfth street and Broadway. The property recovered consisted of a pair of bracelets, two watch chains, one watch charm, clothing apparel and cuff buttons. In the room was also found a glass cutter and a pair of "knucks." Bowman is believed, by the police, to be a confederate of F. C. Mathews, who is now confined in the county jail to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of grand larceny and burgiary,

At Fairmount Park.

The crowds which flocked to Fairmount park yesterday fully attested to the popularity of that resort. It was an enthusiastic crowd, too, with a keen appreciation of the beautiful scenery and the varied attractions. The sacred concert in the open air auditorium as usual drew a packed house.

The living pictures which evoked the most applause were different poses of "Triiby," the "Blacksmith," and "Virginius," by George Paxton, and the "Pisher Boy," by La Petite Shirley.

Miss Delle Jackson and Miss Frances Harrier gave soprano solos in a way which earned enthusiastic encores. Onzo, the famous Italian contortionist, gave exhibitions which astonished the crowd.

Joseph Poter, Walter Ross and Lee Skeffington, three small boys, were arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of playing ball on the Southwest boulevard. Residents in the neighborhood have made frequent complaints to the police against the boys. The boys were taken to police headquarters and released on ball furnished by their parents. They will be arraigned in police court to-day.

KANSAS CITYS PLEASURE PARKS THRONGED BY SUNDAY VISITORS.

Yet, in spite of these lefthanded attractions, a day in the woods, on the lakes, or in the lakes, is not de-spised by the people of this city, if the at-tendance at the various parks in and about

Message of the Age. The Message of the Age. The following text: "That which we have seen and heard declare we unto yon, that ye also may have fellowship with us, and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with His Son, Jesus Christ." First John, 13. He said:

John, 13. He said:

John, 14. He said:

John, 15. He said:

John, 16. He great the great town in gesteriar, nor a dummy train, of which latter there were many more than the usual daily number, was big enough or long anough to hold all the people who wanted enough to hold all the people who wanted enough to hold all the people who wanted a ride or were pointed towards some park. Twenty thousand visitors swarmed into enough to hold all the people who wanted a ride or were pointed towards some park. Twenty thousand visitors swarmed into Washington park early in the day, until the spacious grounds were filled to such an extent that tecomotion along the paths and byways became a matter of time and patience. Treost park was crowled all day and until late at night; Fairmount park had its capacity tested, in fact, every plot of ground desireated for use as a place of recreation was filled to overflowing until the last train pulled in for home.

As one debarked from the dummy trains at Washington park the first sound which greeted his ears was: "Here you get your California, double-jointed, humpbacked poanuts; they're only a a sack." The speaker was a sun-tanned youth of 12 summers, who industriously "barked" his wares as the people streamed past him. The fact that he made few sales, because of the onward rush into the park ground, did not dismay him nor shake the quality of his vocalization. He barked away regardless.

There was a double stream of people at Washington park during the attennoon. First the people rushed into the park. Then they turned back to see Professor Gentry's dogs and ponies perform in the shooting park. They bumped and jostled in the greatest good nature, in spite of the fact that it was hot, woefully hot, on the way to and fro, The dog show was a success if numbers testify. Then the Nelson sisters appeared on the platform near the band stand and gave an acrobatic performance of rare perfection. They are young, clever, pretty, and "do a turn" which is hard to beat. They were liberally applauded.

Over in one corner of the grounds, near the carriage gate, was a hundred bicycles, The owners were scattered all over the grounds, many a bloomer girl being in the number. The ride out is just a good spin, and the wheeling division was well represented. Out in the lake, in spite of the glaring sun, the boats were in good demand, many a fellow working manfully and sweatingly at the oars, while his best girl reposed u and sweating; and the shade of an umberlia and enjoyed his exertions in her behalf.

Over at the bathing station there was a group of men banging to the ropes and perched on the various platforms, presenting much the same appearance at a distance as the monkeys do in the Lincoln park "Zeo" on a sultry afternoon. Now and then one would drop into the water with a splash and soon be seen working out into deep water, followed closely by the guards in beats. About 6 o'clock, as a party was standing on the promenade, a head shot out from near the boathouse. It was red. It was very deep, tark red. It looked like the sun when near the horizon. Yet it calmly and quiety crossed the lake under the strokes of the swimmer. The bather turned on his back and completed the picture by presenting a face which rivaled his vermillion locks.

Kansas City did not lose her record as a city of excursions. A large delegation of Kansans took a day off and came in from Parsons, their train picking up added visitors at all the cities on the road. Then hundreds came in on the Burlington from as far east as Brookfield, all after a picnic in some one of the pleasure spots near the city. St. Joseph, Atchison and Leavenworth people were present in large numbers, although the "Katy" was about the only line which ran an excursion train. In fact, the country surrounding the city for 180 miles poured out its populace into this city for a day's vacation and change of sense.

While it was very hot all day, there was ine miles poured out its populace into this city for a day's vacation and change of scene.

While it was very hot all day, there was such a breeze as this city is famed for playing at short intervals and cooling off the heated, perspiring people before they found time to register a kick or become uncomfortable, once having reached whichever of the parks one desired to visit, it was an easy thing to find some spot where the breeze made life a thing of jox. All around the hand sinteds the people thronged and listened to the music. The programmes were such as to please the greatest number, and catch all.

It was baby a day, too. If the number of little ones from infancy to 5 years could be computed without too much effort on a hot day, there would be reasen to hope for at least double the population in another year. The youngsters took possession in the regular manner which is the true attribute of Young America. Nothing was too good for their double with desone, if that is the scientific definition for infantle steam. Their arrival was the leginning of business for parents and barkers, for popeorn and peanuts were in great demand at once. The little ones of both sexes made a grand holiday of it, and as they were started home, tired and hungry of course, the color in their cheeks and the light in their eyes told a story of the good it had done them.

A Rapidly Growing Church.

The Grand Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, of which Dr. Charles B. Mitchell has been pastor for the past three years, has been rapidly growing during the present pastorate. Every Sabbath there are numerous additions. At one service yesterday, without any extra revival effort, forty-five adults united with that church, Grand Avenue church is now said to have the largest membership of any Methodist church in the West, and for more than two years the size of the congregations have been limited only by the capacity of the large auditorium of the church. A new church, with sittings for 2,500, is contemplated in the near future.

GOVERNOR MORRILL INVITED. He Has Been Requested to Make an Address at the Temperance Conven-tion, July 4.

Topeka, Kas., June 16.—(Special.) Rev. J. B. McAfee, president of the State Tem-perance League, has issued an invitation to Governor Morrill to be present at the great temperance convention at Topeka or July 4 and make an address. When the meeting was first called an invitation was was ignored. The Kansas City Journal pointed out this apparently intended neg-lect of Governor Morrill as evidence that lect of Governor Mortill as evidence that the management of the temperance convention had fallen into the hands of the third party prohibitionists, who have lost no opportunity since the inauguration of Governor Mortill to assail him with false and shameless resolutions or betaber him from the pulpit. This view was taken up by the press of the state and the proposed temperance raily received a severe handling. Governor Mortill was fairly deluged with letters from ministers of the Gospel and other moralists who hastened to repudiate a convention called for the purpose of "roasting" the governor. Some of the best men of the state took active and open resentment to this apparent slur upon Governor Mortill and asserted that if the third party agitators were not called off they would damage the cause of prohibition beyond recovery. Those who were in the movement for the earnest purpose of arousing public sentiment to an enforcement of the law became alarmed at what was plainly an attempt to destroy Governor Mortill at the sacrifice of prohibition, and they took a hand in the arrangements, or at least brought their influence to bear on the management, with the good result of altering the programme until it solicited the co-operation of the state government instead of trying to drive it away from sympathy in the cause.

Rev. McAfoe, who appears to have acted the management of the temperance con to drive it away from sympathy in the cause.

Rev. McAfee, who appears to have acted in good faith in the matter, so far as his connection went, says it is not the purpose of the convention to 'roast' any-body, but rather to counsel together as to how the law may be best enforced.

The invitation to Governor Morrill meets with the approval of the temperance Republicans of Kansas, who will never be driven from the belief that he is in harmony with every effort to improve the morals of Kansas. He has not signified his intention of addressing the convention as yet, but it is altogether probable that he will. If he does he will bury in shame the character assassins who have been denouncing him as in league with the whisky sellers.

HYDROPHOBIA AMONG CATTLE.

Over Forty Head Have Been Killed in Adams County, Neb., After Show Symptoms-Two Men Bitten.

Omaha, Neb., June 16.-A special to the Rec from Grand Island, Neb., says: In the northwestern part of Adams country, in the vicinity of the farm of Fred Ernst hydrophobia has caused a great loss of cattle, injury to man and much anxiety. Two men have been bitten and compelled to go to Wymore, where a madstone was applied, and over forty cattle belonging to Ernst have been shot after showing symptoms of hydrophobia.

In January a cow was bitten by a made og. It died and was not buried, being sauled to some out of the way place. The dogs in the neighborhood consumed the careass. About May I it was noticed that other cattle showed symptoms of hydro-phobla. Then it was that Ernst's first be-vine showed the disease and was shot. Forty head more have since been lost in Forty head more have since been lost in the same manner.

A war commenced on the dogs in the district. Only one dog is left and he will soon join his companions. Three hogs belonging to Ernst were also bitten. One of these had extensive tusks and Frank Ernst, a son, about 21 years of age, was scratched by one of the tusks. As a consequence he was compelled to go to Wymore, where the poison was extracted. A neighbor, while burying a cow which he had shot, allowed some of the animal's saliva to touch a scratch on his hand, and he, too, went to Wymore. He remained there until he was thought to be safe and then returned home. He has since shown signs of hydrophobia and serious consequences are feared.

Desperate efforis have been made to clear the neighborhood of all animals affected.

CURED OF SMOKING.

Colonel John Marens Tells an Interesting Story of the Peculiar Results of a Remedy for Rheumatism.

Colonel John Marens, editor of the News Graphic at Hamilton, Mo., has quit smoking. It was not the result of any reform measure he adopted nor of any wish to decrease personal expenses It was done unintentionally and it is blamable largely on Dick Ervin, a druggist at Hamilton. It is a good story and it was told by Colonel Marens himself. Colonel Marens had cultivated the smoking habit very carefully for many years and had become an adept at it He loved a good smoke and wanted it frequently. Despite this fact he was robbed of the love and the habit was broken off entirely without any effort on his part and it was done before he

on his part and it was done before he was aware it was in progress.

"It is now over a year since I have smoked a cigar and I am free from any desire to smoke," he said in telling how it happened. "I was suffering from a severe attack of theumatism and was kept at home for several days with it. When I went down fown I was at Dick Ervin's drug store and he learned of my trouble. Dick, you know, is an old timer there and has been filling prescriptions for so long that he is a pretty good doctor himself and has a number of preparations for aliments that he makes. One tor himself and has a number of prepar-ations for allments that he makes. One is for rheumatism and he says it is a certain cure. I guess it is. It's a pow-erful mixture certain.

"I took a bottle home with me and began taking it. It relieved the pain and I went to sleep. I awoke during the morning hours. I was in a cold sweat and felt like I was choking. I was cramped all over and my tongue was so swollen that I could hardly utter a sound. I was frightened and thought was so swellen that I could hardly utter a stund. I was frightened and thought I was poisoned by a druggist's mistake. It took me two hours to regain my nor-mal condition and then I was so weak I remained in bed all day. When I went down next day I told Dick of the mat-ter but he assured me the medicine was made to upset the trouble and insisted on my going ahead and I did so with the result that the same conditions prethe result that the same conditions pre-valled with me the next night and then I was so weak that I was in bed for three days. The rheumatism was gone and when I got back down town I went and when I got back down town I went after Dick and accused him of playing some trick on me but he insisted he had done the matter squarely and that I was curred of the trouble. He said the conditions were a little out of line and had caused the uneasy feelings I had ex-

"The next day I tried to smoke a cigar and found I could not do it. The weed was a good one and I had smoked many like it with great satisfaction. This one tasted like perdition and had an odor like the land of the lost. I tried and tried again but they were all alike.

"Then I went back to Dick and he told me the effect of the medicine was to eradicate the nicotine from my system and that if I ever smoked cigars again I would have to learn over just like a child. I did not care to take the second course and let the matter drop and during the past year I have never feit like I wanted a cigar. They are unattractive to me and it is no temptation whatever for me to be in the crowds of smokers. Dick's medicine was far too of smokers. Dick's medicine was far too strong to leave even a foundation for the emptation.

OF INTEREST TO STOCKMEN.

ALL KINDS OF CATTLE ARE HIGHER THAN LAST YEAR.

Cattlemen Nearly Everywhere in the West Will Have a Chance to Make Money, in Consequence of Good Rains-In With Stock.

If the volume of cattle business is not so arge as last year it is producing better reurns and it is more satisfactory. Cattle ire all higher than at this time last year. Export and dressed beef steets are selling 50075c higher grass, Texas and Indian, 2007 for and canners and cows 50075c, which makes quite a difference to the cattle owner. As heavy rains have fallen nearly everywhere in the West lately and pastures are much improved, good cattle should be made to weigh pretty well this summer, and the grazer now, as well as feeder last winter, wind up a successful Season.

John T.Burks, the mule man, and "Gov." Butner, the coal oil inspector, two noted local nimrods, are back from a fishing excursion to Wymere's lake in Clay county, Mo. The fish bit slowly. But at last Mr. Sparks hallooed: "Governor, come quick quick." Dropping his own line he ran to quick." Dropping his own line he ran to his friend's assistance, who was bending his pole nearly double trying to land some might; dehison of the deep. "Keep still John," says the "Governor," "while I get the line close to the water and we will draw him in slowly." Little by little the line was recled and presently a turtle appeared on the surface of the water. Then both men rolled on the earth and the atmosphere became sulphuric for a while. After recovering themselves they said, "A whole day out and only a turtle, ie's go home." And they went.

Is health. No sem in that or coronet is so precious, Per contra, a hereditary tendency to disease often proves a fatal legacy, since the most trifling causes may fertilize the latent germs of ill heathn and render the fruitage deadly. An in-herent transmitted weakness of the physical constitution is more effectually opposed and counteracted by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters than by any other safeguard. Digestion and assimilation promoted, due billary secretion, action of the kidneys and bowels insured, are so many gnarantees of permanent health, and these are tees of permanent health, and these

"It Pays to Get the Best!"

That's a true saying - especially so of Guitars and Mandolins. In the bargain counter instruments you'll find tone and durability sacrificed to price. They are really dear at any price. In direct contrast are the wonderful Harwood Guitars and Mandolins at but little more. We guarantee these instruments in writing for 5 years to give perfect satisfaction in tone, durability and workmanship. No other maker does as much. It's the unquestionable stamp of superiority.
